

INSTITUTO DE
BIOMECÁNICA
DE VALENCIA

BENEFITS FOR MEMBERS

PRESENTATION

The Instituto de Biomecánica de Valencia, as a not-for-profit association, offers persons, companies and/or entities interested in its services or with analogous purposes, the possibility of becoming members. There are three categories of member:

- ❖ Full members: individuals or legal persons who carry out an industrial activity related, directly or indirectly, with biomechanics. Annual membership fee of 300 €.
- ❖ Groups: associations, federations and groups with an interest in or related with biomechanics.
- ❖ Patrons: Administration bodies that, because of their contribution to the Association's activities, merit this consideration.

MEMBERS' ECONOMIC OBLIGATIONS

Full members are to pay an annual membership fee of three hundred euros (300 €).

This amount is the annual charge. When the person or company requesting membership of the IBV association joins, that person or company will be billed for the pro rata amount of the annual membership fee as from the date of registration as member.

This membership contract is to remain in force until the end of the year when it will be tacitly renewed for annual periods unless either of the parties opposes this, in which case this is to be notified in writing to the other party.

BENEFITS PROVIDED BY THE IBV TO ITS FULL MEMBERS

1. Discounts

- 1.1. 20% off on services offered by the IBV for evaluation and product certification, except RFEF trials.

- 1.2. 30% off on enrolment and registration fees for attending courses, symposiums, seminars and conferences organised by the IBV, except masters and courses of IBV applications management.
- 1.3. 50% off on enrolment fees for Internet courses offered by the IBV.
- 1.4. 30% off on the use of the IBV's scientific and technical documentation.
- 1.5. 10% off on the purchase of texts published by the IBV.

2. Use of the IBV name by the member and IBV's support for the member's image.

- 2.1. The member may use the text "Company associated with the Instituto de Biomecánica de Valencia" and the specific logo as associated company. It is excluded the use of IBV's principal logo and/or corporate image.

- 2.2. Inclusion of the company's name on the IBV website, with a direct link to its own web page.
- 2.3. Inclusion in the "Revista de Biomecánica" list of full members of the IBV (this is a six-monthly publication with information on projects being developed by the IBV and news of interest relating to courses, congresses, fairs, bibliographic news, etc.).
- 2.4. Inclusion of inserts in "Revista de Biomecánica", in the section of Members' news, about activities of a corporate nature and institutional interest as well as about projects and activities developed in collaboration with IBV.
- 2.5. Direct participation of the member in communication campaigns aimed at social media (general news, financial and trade press, radio and TV) and receiving dossier of media presence (clipping).
- 2.6. Inclusion of free advertisement in "Revista de Biomecánica" and in the different supports in the internet about products and services developed in collaboration with IBV.
- 2.7. Organization of guided visits to the IBV facilities.
- 2.8. At your disposal the meeting rooms (assembly hall, boardroom, meeting rooms) existing in the center to hold corporate events of institutional nature.
- 2.9. Boosting of news related to collaboration with IBV through social networks profiles and internet sites that IBV has active.

3. Information sent to the member.

- 3.1. Circulars with information on incentives and grants that the member can apply for. ("IBV Alerts").
- 3.2. Circulars sent by e-mail with potentially interesting information related directly with the full-member's activities.
- 3.3. "Revista de Biomecánica" and "Noticias de Biomecánica" (news on biomechanics monthly electronic bulletin).
- 3.4. Access and permission to rebroadcast in the different RSS feeds of IBV.
- 3.5. Participation (free of charge) in training sessions about networking or about user oriented Innovation.